BLISTERS TO PROVE IT!

Stephens & Son LLP was delighted that Annie Nunn, a stalwart of the firm, completed the Race for Life at Mote Park Maidstone on Sunday 6th June joining some 3,999 women all hell bent on running, jogging or walking their way around the 5km course in aid of Cancer Research UK.

The weather forecast had not been brilliant but the rain held off and the atmosphere was carnival all the way! Annie, who was nursing blisters after the event, said: "I knew that there would be lots of other women running for very similar reasons to mine however, it was extraordinarily emotional and humbling to see so many women who have been affected by this pernicious disease – whether directly or indirectly - and want to do something positive to help others. There were many running who had had cancer and were either fully recovered or in remission, then there were those who were going through treatment but wanted to be there to prove that they would not be beaten. It says a great deal about the human spirit. And whilst some onlookers may view this sort of event as maudlin it was one of the most joyous events I have ever partaken in."

Annie raised sponsorship monies for the charity in memory of her father who died as a result of cancer from friends, family and colleagues at Stephens & Son.
